

Argus LNG Daily

Market leading news and analysis. Access to daily price assessments to over 30 unique trade locations and detailed point-to-point freight costs for hundreds of routes.

The global LNG market has been booming over the past decade given geopolitical tensions as a result of the Russia/Ukraine war, growing European and APAC demand to fuel their economies and rapidly increasing supply from the United States.

To make smarter investment decisions, industry players need timely market commentary and actionable/audited price assessments to better understand how regional gas markets are quickly becoming globalized due to LNG.
